Utilities Board intimates That There Will Not be Any Such Action This Summer—Report is Made on Nova Scotia Miners' Relief Fund.

The Utilities Board has intimated that there will be no referendum on capital expenditures this summer. Commissioner Mitchell reported to the City Council last night that the board had agreed to the 13 amendments suggested, but wanted authority at once so the vote could be held June 29 before people left for holiday and so that water could be cut during the vacation. Aid, Clarke, Clark and any other referred back to a report from the commission might be taken up at the adjourned meeting.

The adjourned meeting was held Wednesday night. ### AN ABSURD STRIKE POLICY.

That the Nova Scotia miners made a mistake when they decided to depart from defensive strike tactics and adopt a policy of aggression has been quickly shown. A number of them have been arrested for picketing the mines and trying to prevent officials of the company keeping the pumps going. Hitherto the miners have conducted their strike in a way to gain commutation. They exercised their undoubted right to picket, but did not seek to destroy the mine properties in which they had found employment and hope to find it again. Now they are in the position of trying to wreck the mines and of defying the law which forbids that.

Those arrested may not be punished heavily for the offence, but will perhaps depend upon whether the foolish policy of destruction is adhered to. But defiance of law and attempted destruction of property is not a course to win popular sympathy, under the miners' families are bound to suffer more than they have been suffering. And should the mines be flooded how much better will be the chance of getting back to work?

ESTABLISHING ORDER IN EGYPT.

The authorities at Cairo have prosecuted the men alleged to have been responsible for the murder of Sir Lee Stack, with the result that eight of them have been sentenced to death. Credit for the apprehension and conviction of the guilty men, however, altogether due to the Egyptian powers-that-be, for they acted under compulsion or compulsion. Following the commission of the crime the British Government, interested in Egypt's benefit, the result of the settlement under which the land of Pharaoh had been given a large measure of self-government. The substance of the explanation was that Egypt was not an independent country, and would not become such unless and until it demonstrated a fitness for government not as yet apparent.

The Zaglul ministry was forced to resign, under suspicion of having been connected with the killing of the Sirdar. The succeeding administration might have hunted down the murderers in the interests of justice, or as a stroke of politics. As a matter of fact they did hunt them down because they were told that it would be done by others if they failed to act. The bomb which killed the Sirdar exploded the notion that the Egyptian Government was at liberty to govern as it pleased, or to mis-govern if it chose. That will not be pleasant to the Nationalist plotters, but it ought to be satisfactory to the Egyptian people, whom Britain rescued from former mis-government at a heavy price.

JUNE DAYS HERE, AND ELSEWHERE

Chicago, which seems to be the computing headquarters, reports 319 people died from heat in the few days ending with Saturday. Most of the victims were in the central and eastern States, with a minority in Ontario and other eastern Provinces. Alberta meanwhile has been having the showery June weather that is one of the factors in the making of the western crop. So far as temperature is concerned the complaint has not been that the heat was excessive but that it was rather conspicuous.

There have been no frosts in this district, but sunshine has not been interspersed with the showers in the usual way, while the evenings have been decidedly chilly. At that, we are getting very much the better of the helping from the weather department. The ground is well soaked and a few warm days will start crops of all kinds in their great annual speed contest. And if it seems unreasonable to have to keep the kitchen fire going on a June evening, it is better to sleep under a blanket than under the trees—as they are doing in New York, Toronto and countless other eastern centers.

No doubt the poet was thinking of sunny days when he raved about June days being "rare." So far as Alberta are concerned the East is welcome to all those "rare" days it wants when the mercury stands in the nineties. Better the weather that makes a crop than the heat that kills.

THE NORSE CENTENNIAL.

The arrival on this continent of the first party of settlers from Norway occurred a century ago. To commemorate the event a centennial exhibition is being held at Minneapolis, Canada, as might be expected, is strongly represented by officials, exhibits, and visitors. Colonies of Norse folk have been formed in many parts of the Dominion, and have contributed materially to the development of the country. Alberta owes no small share of the work that has been done here, in planting an organized province in the wilderness, to hardy migrants from that most northerly corner of Europe.

Canada has another interest also in the centennial. It is claimed that the first Norwegian to reach this continent landed on what is now Canadian territory. In the year 1901 Captain Lief Ericson is said to have crossed the North Atlantic and landed in what is now Cape Breton. His reception by all accounts was not cordial, and in any case he did not found a settlement. More than four hundred years elapsed before another European ship came to these shores, and more than three hundred years before the first party of Norse people came to stay. For reasons both sentimental and practical Canada has a keen interest in the celebration that is being held in a neighboring state. And from the exhibits made there, and the publicity connected with the event, the Dominion as well as the Republic in the number of immigrants of Norse descent who may be expected to draw more recruits of this branch of the human family, some from the United States and some from the homeland.

PRIZES FOR PRIZE WINNERS.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture is again offering cash prizes to encourage Alberta farmers to exhibit next winter at the Chicago International. Any Albertan who brings home a grand championship award will be entitled to $100 from the Provincial treasury, while the winner of a first prize will get $100 from the same source. To win a grand championship one must also win first prize in the class. The cash reward for annexing championship honors is $250.

It can be said with assurance that the Minister of Agriculture is not placing a "safe bet" when he makes this offer. He will have to pay out the money to someone, probably to somebody who Albertans have a record to maintain at Chicago. They have been bringing back certificates and ribbons and medals so long and so often that they have got the habit. They will be going after more of them next winter, with exhibits of stock, grains and seeds, and the rest of the continent will have to produce something better than it has been doing if they do not succeed. The announcement of the Minister is a timely encouragement to the farmers of the Province to plan exhibits beforehand, and should help to swell the number of them who will make a try for the honors at the great annual world's fair.

CANADA'S ARCTIC ISLANDS.

Canada lays claim to all islands lying north of the Dominion, right up to the pole. This fact was re-stated by the Minister of the Interior in Parliament last week. It is not a new departure, but the reminder is timely. As the hinterland is unoccupied, explorers of other nationality might conceivably create a situation in which ownership of some of the islands could be claimed, or Canada's sovereignty disputed. To avoid any misunderstanding of the kind an amendment is being made to the Northwest Territories Act, under which any foreigner wanting to enter the Canadian Arctic will be required to take out a license from the Dominion Government. If he takes out such license he will thereby admit Canadian proprietorship of the islands in question. If he goes in without a license he will be rounded up by the police, who in recent years have established posts at strategic points along Baffin Bay and adjacent waters.

Canadians have never set a very high estimate of the worth of these northern isles, possessions, and probably will continue to doubt their material value. It will be well, however, to not under-rate the importance of these presently unexplored portions of the earth. The Klondike gold field was discovered in a region that was supposed to be of little or no account save as a range for fur-bearing animals. Within the life-time of men now living it was supposed to be impossible to grow corn in Iowa on account of the summer frosts, yet Iowa grows more corn than any other state in the Union. Later on it was doubted that wheat could be grown successfully on the Canadian prairies, but Peace River long ago demonstrated how far astray that early conjecture was of the facts. Agricultural possibilities in the Arctic islands may be set down as non-existent. But there are other things of value in this world besides farm products. Some day one of these ice-bergs may be set down as non-existent. But there are other things of value in this world besides farm products. Some day one of these ice-bergs may be set down as non-existent. But there are other things of value in this world besides farm products.

Col. Denison was for so many years police magistrate of Toronto that his name seems permanently associated with the position. It is not often that a magistrate attains national distinction. His functions are local in character and his reputation is usually confined to the district in which he deals out justice to minor offenders. Col. Denison, partly because he held the position so long, and partly because of the way he discharged the duties, made his name known all over the Dominion. There are thousands of people in the east who knew him, some of them to their sorrow, and thousands more to whom the name has come to be familiar in the columns of the newspapers. For forty-four years he served as magistrate, and by common consent in a way to add distinction to the position.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Files of the Daily Bulletin, June 9, 1905

Work began this morning on the extension to the Alberta College building.

The Monetary Times devote the entire front page of the current issue to an article on the Edmonton district. The Times is one of the leading financial papers of America.

A sidewalk is being laid along the south side of Jasper Avenue extension, East End, and the material is on the ground for a walk along the north side of the same street.

The Strathcona fire brigade was called out this afternoon to extinguish a supposed fire in the Immigration Hall. The fire proved to be no more serious than a blaze in the large stove in the hall, which some children had started. The smoke ensuing gave the impression that the building was on fire.

The C.N.R. grade is now completed to a point about 26 miles west of Lloydminster, and the work is being rushed with all possible speed. The track has been laid across the temporary wooden bridge west of Battleford and the rails are now being laid this side of the river at a rate of four miles a day. In the meantime the permanent bridge is being erected. The remainder of the line through to Edmonton is through comparatively easy country and the completion of the road to this city this summer is not a serious undertaking. The crossing at Fort Saskatchewan will probably be made in the same way as at North Battleford. No announcement has been made of the town sites between Edmonton and the rail-head.

WESTERN PROVINCES MAY COMBINE EFFORTS

WINNIPEG, June 8.—Efforts to have the governments of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan combine to appoint a representative to watch at Ottawa the interests of the three provinces in connection with the decision of the Dominion government to increase the freight rates, have been begun here.

Mr. Craig, director-general in the Manitoba government, suggested that such a committee be formed, and that it should be authorized to make definite arrangements for the purpose.

Western Canada has been unfairly treated, said J. P. Newman, chairman of the shippers' bureau of the Winnipeg board of trade committee. The only information we have had is that contained in newspaper dispatches, but judging from them it simply looks as if Western Canada is losing what advantages it has had under the Crow's Pass agreement, with the exception of the rates on grain and grain products.

He said that the shipping bureau would consider the matter carefully, and would co-operate with Western Canada in any effort to secure whatever action was taken.

PARIS, June 7.—A total of 155,254 spectators, 156,661 of whom were deadheads, attended the Olympic games at Paris, according to official figures.

The large percentage of the deadheads has been the subject of comment. The fact that the competition at Meulan shows 27 paying and 974 non-paying spectators, while at Caen the regulars at Le Havre without disbursements for tickets and only 100 spectators for the pleasure. At the target shooting, there were 2,119 paying and 100 spectators, and not one single paid spectator.
